Welcome to our school

Nau Mai, Haere Mai ki tō tatōu kura

At our school we aim to educate the whole student and you will find opportunities to explore in sports, kapa haka, music, art, drama, leadership as well as a very broad range of academic subjects and career options. We do this in a supportive environment where the social and emotional learning of our students is as important as their academic studies.

At Gisborne Girls' High School we recognise that a school is all about the future. It is about opportunity and success so that our students can stride into their futures with confidence and the skills to make it work for them and their communities. It is about celebrating and acknowledging our strong history as it rests as the foundation for our continued success. It is about valuing the importance of iwi partnership and actively promoting relationships with the community of Te Tairāwhiti. Most importantly it is about recognising and nurturing the individual strengths, talents and creativity of all our young women to build positive and focused futures.

Our students continue to excel in a multitude of activities and we endeavour to open doors and encourage them to aim high. We have students competing on the local, national and international stage in many sporting and cultural fields and our NCEA results are well above expectation.

An education at GGHS provides you with opportunity, high expectation, and high quality teaching supported by a wraparound guidance system.

Come and join us in 2023 and start your adventure with us.

Principal

welcome

The dignity and strength of the term 'Hinetu' comes from its association with our school marae ātea entitled Te Takapau o Hinetu. When the girls are formally called on to our school grounds at the pōwhiri, they traverse the "great woven mat of Hinetu" before entering the wharenui – Te Raukura. This welcome is a traditional process that forges connections between the past, present and future whereby the fabric of humanity is strengthened. It marks the beginning of the Hinetu pathway. Hinetu encompasses the living nature of our school values, school events, links between whānau and school, and connections to local and wider communities. These connections developed will strengthen the wairua of the students as they grow.

Vision: Empowering rangatahi for life

Whāngaihia te āpōpō

Hinetu Profile: Gisborne Girls' High School students, Tūranga Wāhine, are our Hinetu: they are confident, culturally connected, actively involved, successful lifelong learners. They will achieve academic success for their future pathways. They are young women of integrity, self-reliant, yet able to relate effectively with others and eager to take individual and collective responsibility as citizens of their local, national and global communities. Hinetu is a shared pathway from who we are to who we aspire to be.

Relational Practice @ GGHS

Gisborne Girls' High School uses Relational Practices to develop and enhance relationships between students, teachers, whanau and the wider community.

At GGHS we engage in Relational Practices where all participants take responsibility for whanaungatanga and connections that nurture relationships.

Relational Practice:

- * encourages students to appreciate the consequences of their actions for others.
- * enables students to make amends where their actions have harmed others.
- * requires students to be accountable for their actions.
- * encourages respect for all concerned.
- * encourages students to develop better understanding of, and empathy with, others.

Student Support

While teaching and learning is our core task, the school places a strong emphasis on assisting students to be ready for learning by developing their personal and social skills. The guidance network ensures that every student feels she is a valued member of the organisation and that she is developing self esteem and getting on well with others. This network is comprehensive and includes form teachers, deans, guidance counsellor, student support workers, student learning support teacher and Director of International Students. A wider team of health professionals is also available to students while at school, a sexual health doctor, a physiotherapist, Resource Teachers of Learning and Behaviour, Public Health nurses and a drug and alcohol counsellor.

Gisborne Girls' High School operates a one stop shop approach to student health and wellbeing, allowing all students to access services on site on a free and confidential basis. All services are housed in the Student Services complex.

Learning Support Centre

"Te Korowai Tautoko"

Gisborne Girls' High School's Te Korowai Tautoko, is staffed by a teacher in charge of the ORS student learning programme and a teacher aide team. The department provides speciality education for students with special needs and students who require ongoing support.

At the L.S.C. all students and whanau are supported through Individual Education Plans (IEP) and all programs are tailored to suit the students and their learning needs. Please feel free to contact the LSC on 068686092 Ext 876 making the right decision:

why girls' school?

choose a

Gisborne Girls' High School is focussed on the best learning outcomes for girls. Research shows that girls achieve better, especially in mathematics and the sciences, in a single-sex school.

Leadership and accomplishment in every area of the school are in the hands of girls.

Sporting, cultural, leadership and academic opportunities can be pursued in a safe and supportive environment.

We foster talent in the performing and visual arts, reflecting our Maori, Pasifika and cultural heritage.

We offer coaching for participation in top level sports. Many students excel at national and international levels of sport.

We have a culture of pastoral care and learning support with strong links to our community, whānau, hapū and iwi.

The Tairāwhiti Services Academy (TSA) can bring the enrolment of a small number of senior boys who add an interesting dimension to our school.

Combining with GBHS to provide a wider range of subjects in the senior school also provides another opportunity to develop respectful relationships.

By achieving success in a range of activities students have the opportunity to develop positive attitudes that will encourage further studies, training, employment and lifelong learning.

We promote individual excellence by teaching to the highest academic standards. Our students receive an excellent preparation for tertiary education.

Support programmes are available for students who have additional learning needs.

Career pathways are promoted to junior students and tailored to the needs of individual senior students. We are extremely fortunate to have a committed and talented teaching staff whose goal is to provide each and every student with a sound learning foundation for their future needs.

history

of Gisborne Girls' High School

Student View: "Your school gave me a lot, taught me a lot. You provided me with an excellent education that I believe is second to none, of the schools in New Zealand. I am very proud to come out of your school. I'm an enthusiastic Gisborne Girls' High School old girl."

Gisborne High School was established in 1907. It was co-educational and the only secondary school in the city. After World War II the school roll grew rapidly. This roll increase resulted in the creation of two separate schools in 1956. Gisborne Girls' High School opened in 1956 with a roll of just over 500 students. Since then it has grown to a roll of over 800, including international fee paying students.

Over the last 60 years the buildings and grounds have been continually improved to meet the changing needs of education.

We aim to provide a safe and welcoming learning environment for all students.

Our vision:

Whāngaihia te āpōpō
